Lusk - Sweet Bills Facing Smith's Veto

Governor to Grant Hearing on Measures That Come as Aftermath of Ouster Trial; May Reject Them

Opposition Is Widespread

Fate of Boxing Uncertain, but 3.50 Beer Seems Sure of Favorable Action

From a Staff Correspondent
ALBANY, April 26.—The Lusk-Sweet-Daly bills for disenfranchising all who hold religious, economic, political or social views which differ from those of three members of the Appellate Division of this district are as dead as door nails.

Equally dead are the bills of the same origin which have for their purpose the setting up of a secret police bureau in the State Attorney General's office for the purpose of spying on those who are not in favor with the particular political party which may be in control, and another set of bills which aim at censoring scholastic expression in private and non-sectarian schools.

Bills Before Governor
These bills are now before Governor Smith. The pseudo-patriotic arguments of their sponsors have not escaped the attention of Governor Smith; nor have the protests of representative citizens who have asked Governor Smith to grant them a hearing on these bills, so that they can present fresh arguments why the Governor should veto them.

Governor Smith will grant this hearing, but until after the arguments of both sides are heard he will not make any comment on the bills, as he will preside at the hearing as the Chief Magistrate of the state.

This hearing will be attended by many prominent men and women. The opponents of the measures, who have signified their intention of appearing before the Governor, include: Bishops of the Protestant Church, distinguished clergymen of the Catholic faith, and leaders in Judaism. The Federated Council of the Church of Christ in America, the most influential body of Protestants in this country, has requested that they be heard in opposition to the Lusk bill. Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A. and other non-sectarian and private institutions which would be subject to the repressive features of the Lusk bill, also have indicated their intention of appearing before the Governor, who will also appear before the Governor to urge him to veto the measures.

Others who will oppose the bills will include the American Association, which has already characterized the measures as products of mediocrity.

Bills Are Held Up
These bills were whipped into shape by an employee of the Lusk committee, which, by the way, Speaker Sweet insists was his own idea, and are next to the Socialist ouster, the chief products of the Lusk committee.

These products of the Lusk committee have already cost the state $105,000 in money already appropriated, and it is expected at least $400,000 more will be spent in counsel fees and other large items of expenses incurred before, during and after the Socialist trial.

When the counsel for the Socialist trial, whose bills are now close to $250,000, will get their money in question, Archibald E. Stevenson, counsel of the committee, was up here last week, but left without any one introducing a bill to him.

It was suggested that with the Legislature practically in revolt against Sweet and Lusk, it was better to wait for another legislature to come along before attempting to put through the tremendous bills charged by Messrs. Stevenson, Sutherland, Berger and others.

Stevenson need not worry, for he has been on the pay roll of the Lusk committee since Sweet created it more than a year ago and he is good for the weekly envelope until July 1 next, as the Lusk committee's life was extended until that date in the closing hours of the Legislature.

Two other important hearings which the Governor will conduct are on the Walker-Gillett 3.50 beer bill and Senator James J. Walker's boxing bill.

Boxing Bill in Doubt
Just what will be done with the boxing bill is questionable. There have been all sorts of rumors regarding the methods used to get it out of Sweet's morose on the last day of the session and put it through the Assembly. The chief purpose of the bill was to enable the Dempsey-Carpentier bout to be staged at the Polo Grounds on July 4.

Governor Smith, unless the United States Supreme Court in the meantime hands down a decision upholding the stringent provisions of the Volstead act, will sign the beer bill.

The teachers' salary increase bill will also be signed by the Governor. As this law does not take effect until August 1, the Governor will not act on it for at least a week.

The Governor has not yet made up his mind on the daylight savings repeal bill. There is a big demand for the signing of the bill from the rural sections and an equally strong demand from the cities for its disapproval.

Another important piece of legislation before the Governor is Senator Charles W. Walton's bill restoring the party convention system of nominating Justices of the Supreme Court.

In all, the Governor has 978 bills before him.

The Legislature considered 3,439 bills and passed 1,306. Of this number the Governor to date has signed 320 and vetoes 7. Of the measures signed, nearly all are local bills, excepting the eleven so-called anti-riot protest measures.

All the bills before the Governor are thirty-day bills, as they were all jammed through in the last ten days of the Legislature, so that he has almost a full month in which to examine them. Hundreds of the 978 bills passed in the last few days were pork barrel items, such as appropriating a few thousand dollars for the dredging of Mud Creek, which flows through the ballfield of Senator J. Henry Walters, majority leader of the upper house, and a few thousand more for Speaker Sweet's county, to repair bridges and fences, political and otherwise.

But Sweet isn't worrying whether his own personal pork barrel items are signed by the Governor, for he could pay for the proposed work out of the $1,000,000 he made last year on a successful plunge in the stock market and not feel it.

Women Urged to Form College Hoover Clubs
Dr. Katharine B. Davis Advises Endless Chain of Letters to Delegates

Dr. Katharine B. Davis urged college women of the country to start an endless chain of college Hoover clubs at a mass meeting in the Lenox Little Theatre, 52 East Seventy-eighth Street, last night. The meeting was under the auspices of the College Women's Hoover League, and was presided over by Dr. Davis.

"Each of you should write to your college friends," said Dr. Davis, "and get them to write in turn to the delegates from their districts. If this is kept up until the convention opens in Chicago a flood of public opinion will be formed that will bring great weight to bear upon the delegates."

The other speakers were Hamilton Holt, J. G. Guttererson and Mrs. James W. Dickson. Mrs. Dickson is a graduate of the University of California and worked with Mr. Hoover in the Belgian relief, and later with the reconstruction committees in devastated France.

Asks $40,000 to Support Herself and 3 Children
Mrs. Siems Tells Surrogate Each Child Needs Yearly Allowance of $5,000

Mrs. Vernon M. Magoffin Siems, of 563 Park Avenue, petitioned the Surrogate's Court for an allowance of $5,000 a year for each of her children, aged five, three and one and a half years, respectively, as the requirements of their maintenance. Mrs. Siems said present day conditions made it imperative that an allowance of $40,000 a year be granted her and her children.

Mrs. Siems's husband died October 23, 1918, leaving an estate valued by his widow at $1,200,000. The income last year from the estate amounted to $50,000. Mr. Siems left the income from one-half of his estate to his widow and the income from the other half to his children, with the stipulation that the executor shall pay so much of the income to his children as their requirements for education and maintenance shall demand, subject to the approval of the Surrogate.

Mrs. Siems said in her petition that even with the most rigid economy she cannot meet the high cost of living from the present allowance for her children. Mrs. Siems said she has been compelled to make up the deficit from her own income. The cost of each child's maintenance last year, said her mother, was $3,000, which included clothing, medical attention and other necessities. Mrs. Siems pays $8,000 a year rent for her Park Avenue apartment. With the hotel and travel expenses of the coming summer vacation, she said, the cost of maintaining herself and children will be increased still more.

Republican Test in Four States To-day
ty district, but claim pretty much everything else.
In Massachusetts the Wood men are running avowed Wood candidates in many Congressional districts. As announced in The Tribune yesterday, there is a sentiment in favor of giving Governor Coolidge a complimentary vote, and that thereafter the delegates will almost solidly vote for General Wood, whose home is in Massachusetts.

Senator Poindexter being an avowed candidate for the Presidency, it is expected that at the Washington state convention in Bellingham the fourteen delegates will be instructed for him. The Wood men assert the general is the second choice there.

More "Dark Horse" Talk
A clean-cut victory for General Wood in Ohio and New Jersey, his giving a "wood" vote to the convention primaries, making it easier for them to start a "wood procession."

A victory for Johnson in New Jersey and Senator Edge, unpicked, with the fight for fourth place narrowed down to former Governor Runyon, a Wood supporter, and Mulford L. Ballard, pledged to Johnson.

Observers of the New Jersey situation would not be surprised if a split delegate ticket would be elected to-day because of the injection of prohibition into the fight. These observers took for a ticket composed of former Governor Stokes and City Commissioner Raymond, Wood supporters; United States Senator Edge, unpicked, with the fight for fourth place narrowed down to former Governor Runyon, a Wood supporter, and Mulford L. Ballard, pledged to Johnson.

There is no fight among the Democrats for the "big four" delegates, all being pledged to Governor Edwards. They are Frederick W. Donnelly, Edward I. Edwards, Frank Hague and James R. Nugent.

Victory for Senator Predicted
Angus McSweeney, Eastern manager for Senator Johnson, said last night at the Hotel Pennsylvania that Johnson stands to sweep New Jersey at the primaries by 20,000.

The same kind of sentiment is sweeping over New Jersey that was noticeable in Michigan preceding the primaries there, said Mr. McSweeney.

We shall elect all four delegates-at-large and a majority of the district delegates. The Wood campaign there has collapsed. The story that Senator Johnson was guilty of treachery toward the Republican ticket in 1916 has been exploded. The wood have been charging that Johnson is a dry, and the story has been circulated in Catholic circles that Johnson is too much of a Mason, and by others that he is too friendly with Catholics. All of these mud-throwing assaults have had their little day and fizzled out, leaving Senator Johnson stronger than ever.

At the Johnson headquarters it was said that J. J. Cheever, of Boston, had organized a Johnson-for-President Club there and had worked up a membership of 35,000 in four days.

Theater Women to Hold Rally for Wood To-day
Many other meetings planned in interest of General by Feminine Supporters

Many meetings for women interested in the campaign of Leonard Wood for President will be held this week.

At the Commodore Hotel this afternoon there will be a rally of theatrical women and writers, at which the speakers will be Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Ward McAllister and Gilda Varesi.

Nassau County Republicans will meet at the home of Mrs. Thomas L. Clarke, in Oyster Bay, on Wednesday.

Westchester women will hold a rally at the Manor Club in Pelham on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. G. Vernon Rogers, chairman of the women's organization for Westchester County, will preside, and the speakers will be Judge Willey, Mrs. William A. Prendergast and Mrs. Robinson.

Thursday evening, Mrs. Joseph Choate Jr. will hold a meeting for business women at her home, 10 East Ninety-fourth Street, and Mrs. John H. Griesel will have a meeting at 378 West End Avenue.

Former Socialist Candidate Given Two-Year Prison Term
MINNEAPOLIS, April 26.—Jacob O. Bentall, former Socialist candidate for Governor of Minnesota, convicted of violation of the Espionage act, was sentenced to-day to two years in the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., by Judge Page Morris in the United States District court.

The specific charge against Bentall was that he obstructed the army and navy program of the United States by a speech delivered July 31, 1917, at Hutchinson, Minn.

Republicans to Name 125 Delegates To-day
Four states elect 125 delegates in Republican primaries and conventions to-day, as follows:
Ohio ..... 48
The contest is between Wood and Harding.
Massachusetts ..... 35
The contest is between Wood and Coolidge.
New Jersey ..... 28
The contest is between Wood and Johnson.
Washington (convention) ..... 14
The contest is between Wood and Poindexter.

Champ Clark, Smith Looming As Candidates
Missourian Says He Is Willing to Run if Party Wants Him, but He Is Not Lifting Finger in Race

Woman Springs the News
Governor Conceded to Have No Chance, but Friends Are Planning a Boom

While telegraph wires were bringing word from Washington yesterday that Champ Clark, if nominated for President by the Democrats, could not reconcile it with his conscience not to run, news came rushing south from Albany that Governor Smith was getting all ready to run, too.

Governor Smith, his adherents explained, doesn't really expect to be President, but he believes if his name is put into nomination at the San Francisco convention, it will be a good advertisement for him and bring him more votes when he runs for Governor again next fall.

From Washington Mr. Clark sent forth to the world in general the intelligence that he had not and did not intend to lift my finger or open my mouth to get the nomination.

He coyly added, however: "Barkis is willin'."

Woman Gives Out News
Mrs. Julia Sanders, an officer of the Swastika Club, a woman's political organization, was responsible for the first news that Mr. Clark might be prevailed upon to consider himself a candidate. She said he had told her as much over the telephone. When asked concerning this last night in Washington, Mr. Clark dictated the following:

Just say this for me. I have not said a word or written a line or lifted a finger to get the nomination at San Francisco and I do not intend to do so. I suppose the delegates would like to elect the man nominated at San Francisco. If they think I can be elected they will nominate me. If they simply want to nominate somebody—if that's all they want—they will nominate somebody else.

"I know Mrs. Sanders very well. She is a fine woman and has lots of sense, but I never authorized her or anyone else to nominate me for President."

Smith Is Less Talkative
Concerning his own ambitions, Governor Smith was far less talkative than Mr. Clark and considerably more modest. It is known, however, that when the delegates and alternates from New York to the Democratic convention meet in Albany on May 5 a neat but not ruddy "Smith for President" boom will be launched.

Not even the most ardent admirers of Governor Smith delude themselves into thinking he has a ghost of a show at San Francisco. They do hold, however, that a speech from the platform of the convention hall extolling the manifold virtues of Governor Smith, followed by hoarse and dutiful cheers from the New York delegation and then succeeded eventually by a speech by Smith, declining the honor and deprecating his delegates to whomsoever the party bosses have then decided upon, will be dramatic, effective and useful.

Smith's office-holding friends in Albany are said to be preparing the boom for launching. It is understood that Thomas F. Foley and Charles F. Murphy have not been consulted in the matter.

Popular-Priced FURNITURE THAT IS NOT COMMERCIAL!
THE trouble with a great deal of popular-priced furniture is that removing the price ticket does not efface the value.

The advantage of buying popular-priced furniture at Sloane's is that it looks more expensive than it is, for it benefits from the circumstance that our reputation for furniture rests primarily on the finest calibre of cabinet work.

Thus, in our lowest-priced productions, our passion for good workmanship and fidelity of form persists like the grain in a fine piece of wood, creating only that which is structurally sound at heart, architecturally correct in its lines, and free from the tell-tale taint of commercialism.

We do ask you to spend more money for your furniture, but only to demand finer furniture for the money you spend.
